

To Whom It May Concern:

Mr. Chris K. Soentpiet has been conducting workshops and author/illustrator sessions with students in grades Kindergarten through Five at the Singapore American School for the last four days. In each session students and teachers were shown the process Mr. Soentpiet goes through in creating a book, he shared his personal history, and he demonstrated drawing and painting techniques used in his work.

Without a single reservation I recommend Mr. Soentpiet as a guest author/illustrator in any school setting. He was interesting, informational and completely delightful to listen and watch. Mr. Soentpiet successfully modified each presentation to suit the age group, which demonstrates an understanding of children that is reflected in his writing and illustration.

I heartily recommend that any school would benefit from inviting Mr. Soentpiet to share his work and experience with students. He can only enrich and enhance any language arts, library, art, or writing program.
